

Rogers Moves Quickly Under New Rights Bill

By GEOFFREY GOOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving quickly under the new Civil Rights Act, Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers has asked to inspect voting records in four counties in four Southern states.

In letters to the county registrars, Rogers said Monday: "This demand is based upon information in the possession of the attorney general tending to show that distinctions on the basis of race or color have been made with respect to registration and voting within your jurisdiction."

The Justice Department said that while thousands of Negroes live in the four counties, none is registered to vote. The counties are McCormick County, S.C., East Carroll Parish, La., Webster County, Ga., and Wilcox County, Ala.

The McCormick County Attorney called Rogers a "liar" for charging there was discrimination there.

"In the first place," said Attorney J. Fred Buzhardt, "We have four Negroes registered. Three registered last week and one last fall. In the second place, no Negro, to my knowledge, has ever been refused registration if they applied. None ever applied before."

H. Henderson Bruce, chairman of the Wilcox County Board of Registrars, said the board hasn't received any applications from Negroes since he was appointed chairman Nov. 1. Earlier records of the board, he said, were subpoenaed for a grand jury investigation and he has never seen them.

At Preston, Ga., Florrie H. McKinnon, clerk of Superior Court in Webster County, said a complete list of registered voters is always open to inspection in her office. "I doubt if we've got a dozen Negroes in this county who could qualify to vote," she said. "It's been over two years since any Negroes applied to register." The Justice Department said there are 1,286 Negroes of voting age in the county.

The civil right bill was signed into law by President Eisenhower only last Friday, Rogers went into action on the first business day thereafter. He said the move was a forerunner "of a widespread program of inspection of voting records in states where constitutional rights of citizens have been infringed by discriminatory practices."

U. S. Sub Goes Around World Under Water

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. atomic-powered submarine Triton has gone around the world without surfacing.

The huge, 7,750-ton submersible, designed as a radar warning ship, was headed for her home port of New London, Conn., today after completing a historic voyage.

An early official announcement was expected here on details of the Triton's trip.

The Triton, commanded by Capt. Edward L. (Ned) Beach, Eisenhower, thus added a new former naval aide to President first to the long-range underwater exploits of the Navy's growing fleet of nuclear-powered submarines.

She is this country's—and presumably the world's—first ship to be powered by dual nuclear reactors.

Her submerged circumnavigation trip was longer than undersea voyages of the Nautilus, Skate and Sargo in their polar trips which included runs from Hawaii to the Atlantic via the North Pole.

But the Triton, despite her weeks of underwater travel, apparently still did not surpass the 80-day record of the submarine Seawolf while cruising in the Atlantic. The Navy disclosed Dec. 31 that the Triton was being prepared for what was described only as an extended cruise. The Triton then was in drydock for servicing and checkout at the Groton, Conn., yards of Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. At that time the Navy said the Triton would leave port "early next year"—in 1960.

The course followed by the Triton was reported to lie far from so-called "sensitive territory." On the other hand, the polar trips of the other nuclear sub have taken them to the top of the world, overlooking Russia's mainland.

In the instances of voyages to the Arctic from the Pacific the route passed through Bering Strait where Russian Territory is only a few miles distant.

The Triton is 447 feet long and has a beam of 37 feet. Until the Navy started its Polaris missile submarine program, the Triton was twice as large as any other boat.

She was launched Aug. 19, 1958, and went into commission Nov. 10, 1959.

The Navy estimates the Triton cost 104 million dollars.

Rains Helpful to Farm Crops

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Last week's rains were helpful to crops in most of Arkansas, the federal state Crop Reporting Service said today.

Heavy rains halted cotton planting in all areas of the state for three days. But county agents reported 77 per cent of the cotton acreage had been planted.

The rains delayed rice seeding temporarily.

Some strawberries are being picked in all areas except northwest Arkansas. Volume movement is expected in the White County area this week, the report said.

U. S. Complains Against Cafe

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U.S. Labor Department has filed a complaint in federal district court alleging violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act by Frank's, Inc., which operates three cafeterias here and one in Hot Springs.

The complaint alleges that some of 10 employees of Frank's central office and warehouse, who handle goods in interstate commerce are paid less than the $1 an hour federal minimum wage and are not paid time and a half for work over 40 hours a week. The suit, filed yesterday, asks an injunction against Frank's.

Candidates in New Blasts at Gov. Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three gubernatorial candidates have fired new blasts at Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Joe C. Hardin of Grady opened his campaign yesterday with a warning against allowing one man — Faubus — to have too much power, such as the complete control of state boards and commissions a fourth term would give.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett charged that Faubus "has dodged all questions" about earlier Bennett statements alleging that at least one out of state corporation had been given a state income tax reduction.

H.E. Williams of Walnut Ridge accused Faubus of "side-stepping the issue in answering a Williams charge that the governor had gained dictatorial control of the state Democratic Party."

Hardin, who pledged himself to seeking a limitation on a governor's tenure if elected, said that a fourth term would give Faubus a perfected political machine which could be used in another race in 1962. Faubus is believed likely to oppose Sen. J. W. Fulbright in 1962.

Hardin also accused Faubus of using the emotional race issue to promote his own interests and of showing no interest in stopping racial agitation.

Bennett contended that the "Faubus-dominated" 1957 Legislature had sponsored tax changes supported by railroad, utility and big business lobbyists.

He said that since 1955, when Faubus first took office, individual income taxes have gone up 82 per cent, while corporation taxes rose only 9 per cent. He also charged that domestic firms pay taxes like individual taxpayers while out of state corporations are allowed considerable latitude.

Faubus and state Revenue Commission J. Orville Cheney declined to comment on Bennett's charges. They have said such tax records are not public. Bennett also renewed a charge that a tax formula had been changed to aid out of state corporations and referred to a 1958 legislative audit which cited an instance in which an unidentified corporation's tax formula was changed from an 11.08 contribution in 1954 to 3.65 in 1955 and 4.31 in 1956.

Williams termed "ridiculous" a statement by Faubus, in answer to the "party dictator" charges, that "it is difficult to be a dictator through democratic processes."

Williams said that by selecting the national committeeman and woman, who used to be elected at party primaries, Faubus had eliminated democratic processes. The state party committee followed Faubus' recommendations for appointments to these posts.

Williams also announced that Ellis W. Ramsey, publisher of the weekly Beebe News and Bald Knob Banner, would be his campaign manager. Ramsey, immediate past president of the Arkansas Press Assn., has been in the newspaper business in Arkansas since 1952.

U.S. Assures Allies of Help in Event Russia Attacks Their Bases

Russia Delivers Stiff Protest Over Spy Flight

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today delivered a stiff protest to the United States about spy flights over Soviet territory. At the same time the United States requested permission to interview the pilot of the Lockheed U2 shot down near Sverdlovsk on May Day.

The Soviet Premier also warned that Soviet rockets will be turned against bases in any foreign countries that allow American planes to take off on spy missions over the Soviet Union.

Although the Soviet protest was emphatic, it was understood to be polite in tone and not calculated to raise the temperature over the incident.

The American request to see the pilot, Francis G. Powers of Pound, Va., also was calm in tone. Officials said all that was contemplated was to ask about his welfare, how he was treated and if he has legal assistance.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned Monday night that Soviet rockets will shoot down any other intelligence planes that venture over Russian soil and will be turned against bases in any foreign nations that allow American planes to take off on such spy missions.

"If intelligence missions are continued over Soviet soil, the Premier said in a speech at a Czechoslovak Embassy reception, 'We shall bring down the planes and bring them down. If such flights are repeated, we shall take appropriate counter measures.'"

Khrushchev issued a general caution against use of foreign bases for spy missions. After his speech he called over Norwegian and Pakistani diplomats and told them if the United States continues using bases in their countries for operations against the Soviet Union, "We will have to aim our rockets at your bases."

Khrushchev told the Soviet Parliament last week that American flier Francis G. Powers, who was shot down and captured May 1 at Sverdlovsk while on a spying flight, took off from Peshawar, Pakistan, and was heading for

Flights Have Been Going on Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) said today espionage flights over Soviet territory have been going on for years, and the plane the Soviets captured May 1 was not hit by a missile but apparently was forced down by "some unforeseen and unavoidable mechanical or physiological defect."

Cannon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, defended the espionage flights in a House speech. He said they have had the approval and support of members of the Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

The House listened intently as Cannon spoke and applauded when he concluded.

Cannon spoke of flights since 1946 and penetrations as deep as 1,200 miles inside Russia.

He was one of the congressional leaders who attended Monday's briefing on the plane incident by Secretary of State Christian Herter and Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Cannon accused the Russians of having "distributed a picture of a pile of rubbish which those who know the plane recognized as espionage."

"The plane and the pilot were evidently taken unharmed," Cannon added.

The fact that the plane was not hit or overtaken by a Soviet plane, Cannon said, "completely destroys" Premier Nikita Khrushchev's claims of invulnerability against American attack. "So, he, as usual, resorts to subtleties," Cannon went on. "The discovery by Khrushchev that since 1946 we have been sending out planes across that border and as far as 1,300 miles into the interior completely disproves his vaunted ability to stop the Strategic Air Command at the border."

Population of Arkansas Drops

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas' population has declined at least 118,704 since 1950, preliminary census figures from 81 of the 75 counties show.

Crossett Co. Sells to Paper Corp.

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — The Crossett Co. announced today that a substantial agreement has been reached with Union Bag-Camp Paper Corp. on condition under which stock in the big Arkansas firm would be transferred.

The announcement was made at a news conference. Peter F. Watzok, president of the Crossett Co., issued a statement but did not attend the conference.

"Negotiations are still under way between officials of the two companies," the statement said. Watzok was believed to be in New York.

Fred Meadson, vice president for marketing of Union Bag-Camp Paper, said at New York that his firm was exploring the matter "consistent with its plan for further market and product diversification."

In his statement, Watzok said the principal stockholders of the giant Arkansas industrial complex had agreed in the main on the conditions for Union Bag-Camp Paper to "explore the possibility of acquiring the stock of the Crossett Co."

It was reported that 15 million dollars would be involved in the transaction — possibly the largest business deal in Arkansas history.

Merger of Lion Oil Co. with Monsanto Chemical Co. in 1955 was a 135 million dollar transaction.

The 61-year-old Crossett company has grown from a timber firm to an operation which embraces the production of lumber, paper, chemicals, paper bags and charcoal.

Union Bag-Camp Paper makes paper bags and various kraft products.

Crossett Co. sales last year topped 45 million dollars, up some 6 million dollars over the previous record in 1958. Net earnings exceeded 4 million dollars.

Watzok said in his statement that Crossett Co. operations "will continue much as at present" after any change in corporate set-up.

The Crossett Co., with more than 2,500 employees, has an annual payroll of more than 10 million dollars.

Reprisal Threat by Khrushchev Is Answered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States said today it would uphold its defense commitments with its allies if Russia should strike at their bases.

This was the reply given Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's threat to hit back with rockets at any base which a U.S. ally allows to be used for spy flights into the Soviet Union.

The United States also promised Japan that it has not and will not use its high-flying U2 jet planes based there for flights on intelligence missions over Red territory.

However, State Department press officer Lincoln White, who issued the U.S. statement, declined to say that the United States would not continue to use other planes or planes based elsewhere for reconnaissance trips over Communist territory.

"We're not closing our eyes to surprise attack from any direction," White said. "You can assume we will keep our eyes open."

This was in line with a stand taken Monday by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter after briefing congressional leaders on the Russian claim to have shot down a U.S. plane deep in Russian territory May 1.

Money Bill Reaches House Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $3,994,781,500 Agriculture Department appropriations bill reaches the House floor today, bringing to the fore a disagreement over one phase of the government's cotton policy.

A squabble has developed between the House Appropriations and Agriculture Committees over reclassifying government-owned cotton offered for sale.

The Agriculture Committee wants this reclassification to continue, but the Appropriations Committee has forbidden use of Commodity Credit Corporation money to do the job.

The quality of cotton is classified when it is acquired by the CCC under price support loans from the growers. It deteriorates in storage, and buyers want it reclassified when it is offered for sale later.

A showdown on language in the bill that prevents this practice could come soon.

The appropriations committee has given two reasons why it doesn't like the practice, which was started by the Agriculture Department in April on the recommendation of the Agriculture Committee.

First, it says the practice impairs the CCC's capital and increases its yearly appropriations. Second, it says the practice gives a definite advantage to large cotton buyers.

The Agriculture Committee, on the other hand, said reclassification was the desire of cotton producers and users and the cotton trade generally.

The CCC began reclassifying cotton in 1956 and continued it until last year, when it became known that the CCC had paid out 166 million dollars in rebates over that period.

The bill's money total is $170,481,000 less than President Eisenhower asked.

The X-rays showed that lesion and Steve had no doubt that the other tests would be positive. He went into the Admitting Office, took those aside and told her. It's in the early stages that it's most infectious, so you'll have to be careful, Rose.

"She was only in the house the other night, and part of next day."

"Linen, china, glasses... sounds like closing the barn door after, doesn't it? However, I'll tell you what to do... and I'd like an X-ray of you too, in three or four weeks," he said casually.

"All right," she said absently. "What happens next?"

"I'll tell her, Rose, and make arrangements to transfer her to Hillport Sanitarium by ambulance. It's not far. I'll take a day off; you arrange to switch your and we'll drive up together, and get her settled."

He went upstairs and Karen looked at his gown and mask and said, without expression, "So the tests are positive."

"The X-rays are. The rest aren't in yet. But it's early in the game, and you'll be all right, in time."

"A long time—months?"

He nodded. "But there are new drugs."

"What am I to do?" she asked. No tears, no signs of emotion. He could not determine whether she was apathetic or courageous.

"There's a very good sanitarium and it isn't far. You'll go by ambulance, as soon as arrangements are made. Rose and I will drive up at the same time and see you safely there."

"Is it terribly expensive?"

"That depends on what you call expensive."

"What happens—after I'm released—provided I get well?"

He could not answer that. Who could answer that?

"Now," he said, "your husband will have to know, Karen."

It was the first time he had used her given name. Her over-bright eyes clouded. She shook her dark head. "No."

"Someone must be responsible and he is—morally and legally," she said, and he thought. The temperature bit her down to the bone and she's still beautiful. "I have a little money." Suddenly she smiled. "I won't need it," she went on, "for clothes, French perfumes, lingerie..."

"Cigarettes?"

"No."

"So you see," said Karen, "I save!"

"I wasn't thinking of money when I spoke of your husband," Steve said.

She asked, "Wouldn't it be possible for me to see David Sutton—you remember him—Pete's and Mark's partner?—as my legal advisor?"

"Of course, I'll ask Rose to arrange it, and I'll ask you to see her. But you must get used to masks and gowns."

"Halloween," said Karen.

When Rose went upstairs, Karen commented, "I see you've come formal."

Rose felt her throat constrict. She said, "Well it becomes me."

"Time's unsatisfactory. Either you have too little or too much. He told you I want to see David? I'll give him power of attorney. What I have is in the bank in New York. There's a checkbook in my flight bag... and he can sell the pearls."

When next day, at about 10, David walked into Karen's room, he pulled up a chair and said, "This is a pretty kettle of fish."

She smiled. "You would have made a handsome surgeon Dave," she said.

"Rose tells me you want me to have power of attorney. She brought your pearls from the house. I'll put them in my safe at home until such time as you think you must sell them. I've a notary from the Business Office waiting outside. Here's the form and a pen. Rose gave me your last bank statement and checkbook."

"You think of everything," she said, "you and Rose."

"And you won't let us tell Pete?"

She hesitated, then said, "I started to say 'Over my dead body.'"

He said gravely, "Steve and Rose managed everything here for you, but the Sanatorium must have assurance of responsibility."

"Of course. Next of kin... as if he ever was. No. There's enough for a while. I'm certain, and the pearls. They won't bring what they cost, but they're good. I hate to sell them."

"I understand that."

"No you don't. Pete gave them to me."

Rose came next day, bringing the luggage Karen would need. "Don't worry so, Karen, it's bad for you to worry—and you have me."

"I couldn't take financial help from you Rose."

"Would you have taken it from Mark?"

Karen considered that. After a moment she said, "Yes, I think so."

"I'm Mark," said Rose and was flooded with warmth and certainty. She was... or as nearly as possible. She couldn't explain it and didn't want or need to; she had always thought of herself since she was 19, not only as Marks wife but as part of him.

Cotton Estimate

14.5 Million Bales

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's final report today estimated this 1959 cotton crop at 14,551,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight with a farm value of $2,281,300,000.

The average price growers received for cotton was reported at 31.4 cents a pound compared with 33.23 for the 1958 crop.

The harvested acreage, the average yield per acre and the production, respectively, of cotton by states last year included:

Tennessee 510,000; 620 and 660; 000; Mississippi 1,400,005; 514 and 1,568,000; Arkansas 1,300,000; 568 and 1,544,000; Louisiana 490,000; 481 and 492,000; Oklahoma 625,000; 292 and 381,000.

Mrs. Clarke White is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. O. B. Can-as he was part of her. Now, she could think that way again.

Karen looked at her. She said, "In a way, I understand."

"Well," said Rose, "there it is; if you need anything and I have it, it's yours."

Driving to the sanitarium, Karen lay still, the attendant beside her. She had no wish to look at the February landscape. (To Be Continued)

Bodo, Norway.

The United States at first said the plane was based in Turkey. Both Pakistan and Norway have denied any knowledge of Powers' flight, and Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange said he was seeking clarification from Washington. Lange told his Parliament Norwegian air fields are not open to foreign planes which violate the air space of foreign countries.

Khrushchev charged that Powers' flight was timed deliberately to affect next week's summit meeting in Paris.

"The whole world wants peace," he said, but "certain quarters in the United States stage such a provocation."

Amid his taunts at the U.S. government and his warnings, Khrushchev also sounded a conciliatory note.

"Our strength is being tested," he said. "Therefore let us not draw conclusions aggravating relations between countries, such conclusions as would hamper us in the future, even, I should like to say, in building good relations with the U.S.A."

"We want to live, not only in peace, but also in friendship with the American people. The American people want no war, I am sure of this."

(Khrushchev, meanwhile, dispatched a note to French President Charles de Gaulle which strengthened the conviction that the Soviet Premier is still looking forward to the summit meeting despite the furor over the U.S. plane. In the note, Khrushchev expressed hope that the friendly relations established on his recent visit to France would continue at the conference opening in Paris Monday.)

(West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a speech in Dusseldorf Monday night said that Soviet planes have made air reconnaissance missions at great heights over the United States. He said the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told him the Soviets had excellent aerial photos of America and that it was difficult for the United States to achieve the same results over the Soviet Union.)

100 Africans Are Under Arrest

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—More than 100 Africans have been arrested and police are searching for other suspected offenders after a weekend of antiwhite mob violence in the Northern Rhodesian copper belt just across the border from the Congo. A white woman and her two daughters were set afire in their car in one incident.

Other whites were stoned. So alarmed were white authorities at this sudden outburst and so widespread were police activities that there was speculation about the possibility of cancelling a visit by Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth. She is due in Salisbury Wednesday to start a 10-day tour of Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, British areas which are being united in the Central African Federation. Many blacks oppose the federation.

Billy Short Known Well by Yankees

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If you had asked any member of the New York Yankees to identify Billy Short two months ago, he'd probably scratch his head, think a minute and then remember: "Oh, yeah that kid they had at Richmond last year."

Tonight, the same Short, 22 year old and less than two months out of the Army, becomes the most important pitcher on the Yanks when he takes the mound against the Cleveland Indians in the opening game of an important series. Starting a rookie at this stage is highly unusual for the Yanks and it indicates the high regard Manager Casey Stengel and pitching coach Eddie Lopat have for Short.

He has made three starts already, against the lesser lights of the league, and has compiled a 2.35 earned run average while winning two and losing one. The setback was a 2-1 decision to the Baltimore Orioles.

Short has had one big problem—wildness. He has issued six walks in each game.

"I'm sure the only reason Billy has had control trouble is his late start this year," said Lopat, who managed him at Richmond last year. "He had very good control at Richmond. He gave up only 69 walks in 179 innings."

DOROTHY DIX

Unborn Child
Is Stepfather's

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My father died five years ago when I was 18. Last year my mother married a man ten years younger than herself. He and I lived desperately to keep away from each other because we never forgot about Mother once I even moved to an apartment of my own. This only made things worse.

Then the real temptation came, and it was more than we both could bear. Now I find myself three months pregnant. My stepfather wants to divorce Mother to marry me. Although I love him very much I'm afraid of what a shock like this would do to Mother. I've been thinking of leaving town and giving the baby up for adoption. That way Mother need never know. Do you think this wise? Please answer soon. I feel so desperate. —K

Dear K: If anyone can help you, it is Mrs. Virginia Lee Bennett, of the Children's Service Society of 576 East South Temple Street, Salt Lake City, Utah. Write her.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My son married what we thought was a very nice girl. Now we have our doubts. He can't keep up with her bills. She is always sick till evening, then ready to go out. If he doesn't take her she throws herself on the bed and cries. She cooks and is a good housekeeper — when she wants to be — but expects my son to do all the work weekends, after eight hours every day in the office. He goes to school at night. She won't let him study and he flunked his exams. Her mother tells me that the children will have to work it out together. What do you think? —Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Your concern for your son is understandable but "the children" (your daughter-in-law is evidently being one) will have to work it out together. It's your son's life, not yours. Thanks off!

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am assigned a project in our school library. I chose narcotics because it is a serious problem. Any information you might have would be greatly appreciated. Dorothy Olin

Dear Dorothy: To be a good reporter, you should get fresh information first hand. Interview doctors, druggists and the police. Talk to members of the Narcotics Squad. Write to the U.S. Public Health Service in Washington. If you do a thorough job, you might eventually become a reporter.

Russia Plans Another Blow to America

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union is aiming still another blow at American prestige.

While Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is getting all the mileage he can out of the downing of a Yankee plane over Soviet territory, he is also planning to seek equal status for the ruble with the U.S. dollar. That would be far less dramatic but he hopes it would boost the Soviet Union in others' eyes.

To achieve equal status he would have to make the ruble 10 times more valuable in foreign exchange than it is today.

The practical result on world trade, especially that of the Americans with Russians, is doubtful—since the upgrading of the ruble would be purely artificial.

But the aim of making the Soviet Union look as good as the United States in still another field is plain. And the psychological effect in other lands could be considerable. To Khrushchev's mind that seems all important.

That would be to make the ruble look as good as the dollar, even if the economic positions of the two countries weren't changed in the least.

It's like the move the Charles de Gaulle government made in France—issuing new money with fewer zeros attached.

France lopped two zeros off its francs. That is, a new franc was issued to Frenchmen who turned in an old 100-franc note. Prices, wages and so on conformed without being changed at all in purchasing power.

Khrushchev apparently proposes to issue a new ruble. To get it, any holder of rubles must turn in 10 of the old ones. Wages and prices would conform to the new currency without any real change in purchasing value.

But the psychological effect would be there. The Russian could take his new ruble to the store and buy what would have taken 10 old rubles to buy. This probably would make him feel better off. Of course, his next paycheck would be only a tenth the size of his present one. That wouldn't be as pleasant.

In foreign trade, the proposed change would mean that the Soviet Union could offer goods at prices that appear one-tenth as high as they now do.

But most nations trading with the Soviet Union figure out a deal on a barter basis anyway. They figure that a ton of Soviet oil is worth so much in their currency, rather than in the ruble price. For the Soviets have set the value of the ruble arbitrarily all along. Officially they have maintained that the old ruble was worth 25 cents of American money. However,

Ship Cleopatra Being Unloaded

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen today started unloading the United Arab Republic ship Cleopatra.

The Seafarers International Union started picketing the freighter 25 days ago, saying Arab actions against American ships that dealt with Israel reduced job chances for U.S. sailors. Longshoremen refused to cross picket lines.

Picketing stopped Friday when the State Department told AFL-CIO President George Meany "positive action" would be taken concerning Arab actions.

The Cleopatra has aboard 356 tons of general cargo and unloading is to be completed Tuesday.

Civilians Elect

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Philip R. White of Little Rock is the new governor of the Ozark District of Civitan International.

William J. Wynne of El Dorado was named governor-elect Saturday at a district convention here. Another El Dorado man, Dave Moore, was governor last year.

W.T. Marks of El Dorado was named lieutenant governor for Arkansas and the Rev. James Beal of Conway was elected lieutenant governor for central Arkansas.

they let tourists get the ruble for a dime.

More important, as far as trading goes, is the arbitrary setting of prices.

American manufacturers price their products with an eye on costs and possible profits, as well as on competition. The Soviets set their prices with an eye on international politics.

If they want to ruin some one's market, they undersell him, even if they sell at a loss.

So, juggling the stated value of the ruble will be primarily a prestige matter—but they apparently expect it to pay dividends.

Delays School Integration at Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge Frank A. Hooper today postponed putting school integration into effect in Atlanta until May 1961.

"It's the last chance this court can give the Legislature of Georgia to avoid what may come," Hooper said.

He said he would issue a ruling to delay the effective date until next May and would require that it apply to both the 12th and 11th grades as of the September 1961 school year.

The desegregation plan submitted by the Atlanta School Board under Hooper's order had provided for integrating only the 12th grade at the start.

Although he had previously ruled that Atlanta must desegregate its schools, the judge had not set an effective date. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People had asked that desegregation begin with the September 1960 school year.

Hooper, insisting he had no intention of dabbling in Georgia politics, said the delay to 1961 was granted for this reason: "Georgia might change its mind next January and see fit to allow Atlanta to have some integration rather than to risk the dam breaking and the whole state to be flooded."

Chairman Failed to Pass Test

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—The Junior Chamber of Commerce, the state police and local garagemen are sponsoring a three-day car safety check on main street.

The first man in line to get his car checked this morning was Grider Thrasher, general chairman of the project. Thrasher is in the insurance business.

His car didn't pass—bad brakes, it known.

To Try Pilot Under Soviet Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has informed the United States that the captured American spy pilot will be brought to trial under Soviet law.

Authoritative officials who reported this today said the Soviet government mentioned this in a formal note.

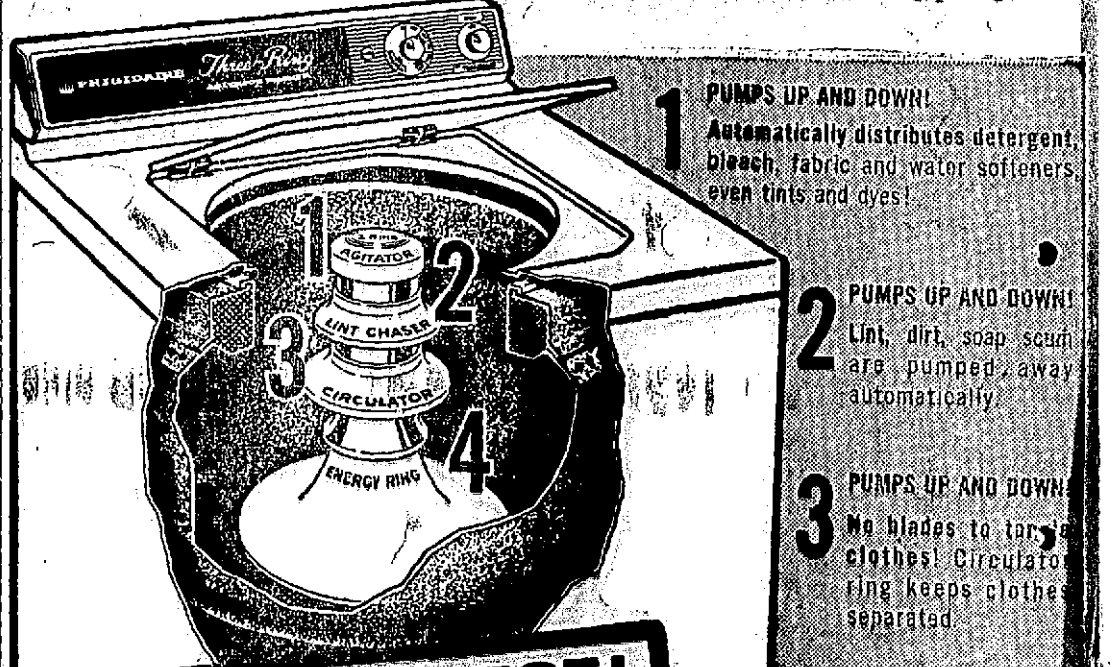

The State Department declined to make public the text, saying it believed Moscow would make it known.

Sawyer Has Some Baseball Offers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eddie Sawyer, who resigned as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies after one game this year, says he has had some offers from baseball. But he did not elaborate.

Sawyer, contacted at his nearby Wayne home Monday, said he hadn't made up his mind about future plans.

"It probably will be next week before I decide," he added.

Pirates Fumble Another on Unearned Runs

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Pittsburgh's stumbling, fumble behind idle, first place San Francisco on Monday night giving up a pair of unearned runs and losing 7-4 at Los Angeles as Charlie Neal slugged a three-run homer in the ninth that tagged the once unbeatable Elroy Face with his third defeat.

The Bucs now are 1½ games behind idle, first place San Francisco and only one game ahead of Milwaukee's third place Braves, who were rained out at Chicago in the only other NL game scheduled.

Rain also halved a two-game schedule in the American League. Right-hander Camillo Pascual, pitched his second three-hit victory as Washington clubbed Kansas City 8-1. Then Cleveland at Boston game was postponed.

The Pirates were shutout on one hit for seven innings by Don Drysdale. The Dodgers' ace right-hander struck out 13, but gave up two-run homers by Bill Mazeroski and Bob Skinner in the eighth and ninth before reliever Larry Sherry took over.

Sherry came in with the tie-breaking run on first, struck out Don Hoak and then retired Gino Cimoli on a grounder to end the Buc rally. Neals second home run of the season, following a single by Matur Wills and an intentional walk to Junior Gilliam, got the job done.

It was Sherry's third straight victory in relief.

Bob Friend lasted seven innings for the Bucs before giving way for a pinch-hitter.

Pascual (2-3) struck out 11 and gave up nothing but singles while putting away the fifth three-hitter of his career for Washington. He lost a shutout in the third when my Garrow, 137, Claremont, N.H., 5.

Sydney, Australia — Clive Stewart, 161½, Australia, outpointed Tony Dupas, 156, New Orleans, 12.

Tokyo — Fumio Kaku, Japan, knocked out Jiro Kanazawa, Japan, middleweights, 9.

Swansea, Wales — Wally Swift, 148½, England, outpointed Larry Baker, 148, New York, 10; Brian Curvis, 146, Wales, outpointed George Barnes, 146, Australia, 15 (for British Empire welter title).

New Blow to Collegiate Boxing

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Intercollegiate boxing suffered what may turn out to be a knockout blow when it was dropped Monday by the University of Wisconsin, long a leader and often a champion in the sport.

The Badgers were voted out of competition by the Wisconsin faculty less than a month after the death of Wisconsin boxer Charles Mohr of a brain injury suffered in a bout.

Wisconsin had been the last major school outside of the Pacific Coast area still in the sport. Agitation for complete abolition of intercollegiate boxing increased after Mohr's death and probably will gain more strength from the Wisconsin decision.

The departure of the Badgers from the ring also means the end of intercollegiate action which helped maintained interest.

Wisconsin boxing coach Vern Woodward quickly defended the sport, saying, "I'm terribly disappointed in the reaction of the faculty. I think the members acted too soon after the unfortunate and tragic death of Mohr and that their reaction was too emotional."

The A's scored an unearned run on the first of two hits by Dick Williams, a passed ball and a two-out error by shortstop Billy Conzolo. Williams got the As second hit in the eighth, Jerry Lumpe got the other in the ninth.

The Senators beat Ray Herbert (2-1) with three runs in the first on two walks and singles by Don Dobbek, Earl Battey and Reno Bertoia. Jim Lemon added his sixth home run, tying Cleveland's Woodie Held for the AL lead, and Bob Allison socked his second in the eighth.

The vote came after only 20 minutes of discussion.
Woodward also said he was disappointed because he wasn't given a chance to be heard.
Badger Athletic Director Ivy Williamson said the faculty left the way open to continue intramural boxing, but he said it probably would be on a reduced scale.
The 22-year-old Mohr, of Merick, N.Y., was hurt April 9 in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament at Wisconsin. He was defending his 165-pound crown in a title bout with Stu Bartell of San Jose (Calif.) State.
